Uninsured Employers' Account Protects Nevada Workers

A key WCS mission is ensuring employers, per workers' compensation law, purchase and maintain proper workers' compensation coverage for their employer. Consequences for employers' non-compliance are hefty fines and penalties, along with possible prosecution by the Attorney General's Office. What happens to injured workers whose employer does not have required coverage? NRS 616C.220 details how an injured employee may receive compensation from the Uninsured Employers' Claim Account (UECA). As with a regular claim there are various criteria to satisfy, however, the bottom line is the injured worker is entitled to the same compensation and benefit as the worker employed by a fully insured employer.

Potential uninsured claims come to WCS in a variety of ways, with the most common occurring when an injured worker seeks medical treatment and workers' compensation coverage is not located for the employer. The worker is treated, and the completed C-4 Form is sent to WCS for investigation. Once assigned to an Employer Compliance Unit (ECU) investigator, on-site visits and interviews are conducted with the alleged employer and the injured employee to determine if an employer-employee relationship exists. The injured employee is informed of their right to elect compensation benefits from the UECA or seek direct redress from the employer, which often takes place in the form of a civil lawsuit. Regardless of which option the injured worker chooses, if the employer is found to be uninsured, ECU will issue the applicable premium penalties and/or administrative fines against the employer. If the injured worker chooses to file a claim with against the UECA and an employee/employer relationship is confirmed, the claim will ultimately be processed by the State's UECA third-party administrator, which has 30 days to accept or deny the claim. In addition, the DIR Counsel and Department of Business and Industry Fiscal Unit pursue reimbursement collection action against the employer for all UECA expenses relating to the uninsured claim.

Regulations Update

In 2023, Nevada Governor Joe Lombardo issued Executive Orders 2023-003 and 2023-008, which required every executive branch department, agency, board, and commission to undertake a comprehensive review of the regulations subject to its enforcement and provide details on how the regulation can be streamlined, clarified, reduced, or otherwise improved to ensure those regulations provide for the general welfare of the State without unnecessarily inhibiting economic growth, and to begin the process of repealing, streamlining, clarifying, reducing, or otherwise improving regulations. In compliance with these Orders, the Division of Industrial Relations, Workers' Compensation Section (DIR/WCS) undertook such review and proposed R028-23. After conducting a workshop and hearing and undergoing multiple revisions, R028-23 was approved by the Legislative Commission during its February 26, 2024 meeting. The regulation was filed by Legislative Counsel with the Secretary of State and was effective February 27, 2024.

Additionally, WCS will be holding public workshops and hearings on proposed regulations relating to SB 274 in the near future. Dates and times for workshops and hearings will be posted on the Division of Industrial Relations (DIR) Meetings webpage. Watch for emails notifying interested parties of these meetings.

We want to thank Valerie Hall for her tremendous service to our agency all the workers of the State of Nevada as the former Chief Administrative Officer of WCS. Some key highlights of her time in DIR include building a great leadership team, fostering a collaborative environment for employees, working with each unit to improve processes, spearheading development of a major contract to upgrade CARDS, successfully implementing new legislation, and working to ensure we are meeting our statutory requirements. She met each challenge head on and was always ready to personally pitch in to ensure important tasks are completed. She built a great foundation for WCS moving forward. We will miss her positive, cheery attitude and fortitude and wish her the best in her new endeavors.

Julie Gaytan has been with the State of Nevada since 2014 and with the Workers' Compensation Section (WCS) since the fall of 2019. Julie worked in both the Medical Unit and the Employer Compliance Unit (ECU) and was a tremendous help to all. It's no doubt, her sense of humor and expertise will be missed. In the words of her teammate Roxanne Escamilla, "There aren't enough words or ways to show appreciation for all your hard work and all the support you have given our department and myself. You inspired everyone with your positivity. Thank you for being a great teammate. We will miss you and wish you continued success." Truer words have never been spoken...WCS and ECU wish Julie all the best and can only hope to have her back in some capacity in the future.
