

COVID-19 and its Impact on the Workers' Compensation System

Brett J. Barratt, Esq., is a Senior State Relations Executive for the National Council on Compensation Insurance (NCCI). Before joining the NCCI in 2018, Brett spent fifteen years as an insurance regulator in Utah and Nevada in various management and legal roles, including as the Nevada Commissioner of Insurance. Prior to beginning his insurance career, he practiced corporate bankruptcy specializing in creditors rights and casino reorganization in Las Vegas, Nevada. In addition to his expertise in workers compensation, Brett has extensive experience in all aspects of insurance regulation, management, insolvency, and NAIC and legislative affairs on the state and national level and monitors international insurance issues.*

Barratt graduated from Westminster College in Salt Lake City, Utah, and earned his Juris Doctorate degree, cum laude, from Michigan State University College of Law.

Barratt resides in Salt Lake City, Utah and in his free time enjoys traveling, skiing, fishing, mountain biking, camping and is an avid golfer.